

GREGORY BARGEMAN

Gregory Bargeman is a native of North Carolina with a B.A. in Speech Communications from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. While attending college, he headed the Ebony Readers Onyx Theatre, a drama group that recognized African-American literature through oral interpretation. Mr. Bargeman appeared in lead roles in "Tapestry," "The Way We've Come, The Road We've Traveled," "Why Do Mosquitoes Buzz in People's Ears?" He was also invited to be a guest speaker for a speech professors's Oral Tradition course. He gave a lecture/performance on the techniques and styles of the African-American preacher. Presently, he is performing through Encore Theatre Company in Washington, D.C. Even though Mr. Bargeman is performing through Encore Theatre, he is available for one man shows and/or drama workshops.
